

To: The Federal Communications Commission (FCC)
Reference: Petition filed by the Consumer Bankers Association (CBA)
Docket No. 02-278

My name is Richard O. Bovey and I reside at 3916 Petersmill Drive, Lafayette, Tippecanoe County, Indiana 47905 Tel: 765-447-2233 E-mail: r.bovey@gte.net. I am writing to the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) to express my objections to the Petition filed by the Consumer Bankers Association (CBA) which challenges Indiana's Telephone Privacy Law and seeks an exception for 'established business customers'. I strongly oppose the CBA's Petition and do not want to see any exception or weakening of Indiana's Telephone Privacy Law as said law presently exists. My wife and I have been bothered enough over the past years by telephone solicitors and other annoying phone calls trying to sell us things and/or services we were not at all interested in. Those unsolicited phone calls (especially during family dinnertimes) were definitely a nuisance, distracting and repetitively bothersome. When Indiana's Telephone Privacy Law came into effect, we immediately registered to be on the 'no call' list and that greatly helped to put a halt to the stream of unsolciited telephone calls. We want things to stay that way without any 'exception'. Thank you for reading my objections to the Petition filed by the Consumers Bankers Association (CBA).